Hello there. I do not agree with this possible by law with gyms not being able to be industrial areas. I do not fully understand how gyms could be a problem in these areas. I am speaking from the point of view of being someone who uses a crossfit gym in an industrial area. The crossfit gyh,s need the space for the various activities and large class sizes. I do not agree with them being moved into commerical areas because a crossfit gym is usually a growing business and is already high enough membership and for the business to increase fees will make a lot of people have to quit which results in a business closing.
