

RE:STA

Request;

1. To clarify capping STA to 35% of rooms in multi-unit dwellings. Does this apply to an up/down bungalow if each suite is self contained and has separate entrances? I would argue that if each suite is self contained that this is acceptable. I'm hoping the goal of this request was to prevent people from renting out multiple single rooms in the same dwelling (which I agree shouldn't be allowed).
2. License fee's for STA, why is Regina going to be the most expensive city out of all the comparable's in your own supplemental report (found page 10 of 11, EX20-27)? It's not even close with the next expensive one hundred and twenty eight dollars cheaper. Saskatoon is two hundred and fifteen cheaper. Also other than Calgary the other three cities charge the same amount for primary and secondary residence. I agree with requiring licenses but it seems secondary residence owners are being unfairly charged.

I would like to present at the October 28th meeting

Presenter;
Shawn Fay
Regina, SK