City Council went in camera to receive confidential and legal advice respecting toxic spills and related public disclosure.

City Council resumed public session.

Deputy Mayor Findura stated for the record that City Council had received confidential and legal advice respecting toxic spills and related public disclosure but that no decisions were taken.

Councillor Andrew Stevens moved, in amendment, seconded by Councillor Dan LeBlanc that semi-annual reports be brought to the Operations and Community Services Committee and City Council - with both City and EPCOR staff in attendance - containing the following information related to the Waste Water Treatment Facility, Waster Water Hauling Station, and sewer infrastructure:

- The effectiveness of source control infrastructure, testing, and enforcement efforts;
- A list of offending parties and applicable fines issued by the Court, or invoices issued by City and paid by the affected party. If infractions have been found but no fines issued, the reasons for these decisions shall be reported.
- The success or limitation or existing prevention efforts, along with recommendations for improving testing, source control, and asset management, where applicable;
- The amount of money recovered as part of environmental enforcement efforts, along with a list of offending parties and the total cost of spills incurred by EPCOR or the City of Regina;

- Total cost of source control testing (breakdown how much total and how much for specific businesses)
- Total city hours (staffing dedicated)
- Summary of the data, including max and minimums per parameter
- Number of businesses identified of concern, or number of engagements with business owners to improve their wastewater quality
- A list of waste water agreements signed with third parties;
- A list of claims submitted by EPCOR;
- Effectiveness of equipment at the McCarthy pump station in identifying contaminants including a summary of the data;
- A list of contaminants found in all available samples collected in that year, based on tests at the Waste Water Treatment Facility and hauled wastewater station
